Well opponent found guilty of obstruction

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A battle inside Romulus City Hall the night before the city election last November between a local anti-deepwell activist and then Police Chief Daryl Poe (and others) lead to the conviction of the activist Monday on a charge of attempting to resist and obstruct a police officer.

The defendant, Steven Lewkowicz, also was charged with an assault and battery on city janitor Raymond Wheeler. The 34th District Court jury of two men and four women, who had deliberated briefly after a two day trial, found Lewkowicz not guilty of that charge.

Two hours before the conclusion of the trial on Monday, one male juror confided to Chief District Court Judge Tina Brooks Green that the knew Paul Lewkowicz, the defendant's brother, as a fellow employee.

Substitute teacher held on sex charge

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A 29-year-old substitute teacher was arrested May 31 on the charge that he fondled a 16-year-old female Romulus High School student in an empty classroom two weeks before.

The substitute teacher, James Leon Dozier of Ypsilanti, reportedly had been employed by Romulus schools since last fall. He had served at numerous district schools since October, but was immediately severed from further employment when the charge was filed, Sam LaMonica, district human relations director said Tuesday morning.

Dozier was arraigned Monday in the 34th District Court on a criminal sexual conduct fourth degree charge (a two-year misdemeanor) before Judge William Szlinis.

Szlinis released Dozier on a $10,000 personal bond and ordered him not to have any further contact with the alleged victim.

A hearing has been slated for June 12 at the 34th District Court.

Romulus Detective Cora Semrau said the alleged incident occurred on May 15, when Dozier reportedly stopped the girl in a school hallway and told her he needed to talk to her privately.

The girl later told school officials, Dozier fondled her body. Her parents later informed the local police.

Mich Con surprised City council supports second gas utility

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Despite an 11th hour agreement between Ashley Capital and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. on Monday, the Romulus City Council okayed a second gas franchise to Consumers Power Co.

On Tuesday, Ray Lozano of Mich Con expressed "surprise and shock" with the council's actions. He stated Mich Con felt that once it reached an accord with Ashley Capital, the need for a second gas company option in Romulus would be eliminated.

But following the earlier public hearing, F. Bill Pike of Consumers Power told the council that rather than waste either its time or that of the council, Consumers Power pressed its request for a 30-year Romulus franchise.

Pike had come before the council on May 6 stating that Ashley Capital was seeking to switch gas companies from Mich Con to Consumers Power, but to accept such a customer Consumers Power needed a city franchise.

Pike said that Ashley Capital felt it wasn't getting the response it sought for current and future needs from Mich Con and asked its neighbor Consumers Power to become its prime utility.

The following week Paul Ganz of Mich Con attended the council meeting and said he was not aware that any communication breakdown had occurred between Ashley Capital and Mich Con, but obviously one had developed.

Councilman Michael Prybyla urged Ganz to confer with his firm's customer (Ashley Capital) rather than trying to talk the council into voting negatively on Consumers Power's franchise request.

Apparently Mich Con executives took Prybyla at his word and did just that. An agreement apparently was reached between Ashley Capital and Mich Con last Friday and the pact was signed Monday only hours before the latest council meeting.

Pike said despite that agreement, Consumers Power was preceding with its franchise request and was willing to enter into a "friendly but serious competition" status with Mich Con in Romulus.

Both sides admitted that Mich Con would continue to be the city's primary supplier of gas and services. But Pike said Consumers Power would be at least for the short term "a fringe supplier for businesses along the Van Born road area."

Pike admitted that he wasn't sure what Consumers Power's long term goals would be in Romulus, but it was willing to provide free training classes for local firefighters and Department of Public Works employees since they usually get to gas line crises before utility workers.

He also stated proudly that Consumers Power is number one in response to gas line leaks and explosions.

Most of the council members approved the franchise request stating that "competition among utilities was healthy for Romulus."

The franchise request still needs to be approved by the state's Public Service Commission and that could take as long as six to nine months, Lozano said.

Patterson nixes offer

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

While considering it a compliment to be appointed to the new Detroit Metropolitan Airport Expansion Review Committee, Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton) rejected the invitation.

Patterson wrote a letter to Wayne County Commission Chairman Ricardo A. Solomon on May 23 and declared "despite the honor and the compliment (in being named to the committee), I must respectfully decline the invitation. I hope you will understand."

Earlier in the letter, Patterson told Solomon "you have consistently demonstrated your faith in my ability and dedication to the people I was elected to serve throughout my first term in office. I appreciate your confidence and thank you for it."

Patterson said he expects the new committee to "receive substantial public exposure and there will be much glamour involved."

While he agrees that airport improvements are critically important, Patterson said, "I find myself faced with a dilemma...and that dilemma centers around the question of priorities."

Patterson added that he fears he may have alienated some of his colleagues (commissioners), while speaking out forcefully on behalf of Romulus and Huron Township residents impacted by airport

Wayne County park millage on Aug. 6 primary ballot

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A question as to whether voters want to raise area park taxes a quarter of a mill will be on the Wayne County primary ballot on Aug. 6.

The decision to place the referendum on the ballot was approved by a 9 to 4 vote on May 28 at a special County Commission meeting in Detroit.

Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton) was one of the four commissioners to oppose the referendum request made by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

If approved by the voters, the millage plan would add about $12.50 each year to the taxes of a home assessed at $50,000.

Prior to the special 10 a.m. meeting, Patterson asked "Why do you suppose this is coming up at the last possible minute?"

Tuesday was the deadline to get the question on the ballot this August.

Patterson complained the late action caused the "bypassing of our usual committee procedure and review." He also chided the McNamara administration for placing the question on the "August primary ballot when the fewest number of voters will likely go to the polls."

Patterson also warned the voters "hang on to your wallets, because it looks like the tax relief brought about by Proposal A is about to be reduced by the liberals!"

The proposed ballot language reads: "Shall the millage rate Wayne County is authorized to levy within the limitation under the Wayne County Charter be increased 1/4 mill (25 cents per $1,000 of taxable valuation) for five years from 1996 to 2001, inclusive, to improve and operated several parks and related facilities, including major improvements to Hines Park, Elizabeth Park, Chandler Park and Fort Wayne on the condition that, for any year for which this increased levy would be imposed, Wayne County must budget an amount equal to its 1995-96 fiscal year appropriation for parks. This levy is estimated to generate $7,924,224 in 1997."

The tax hike would also reportedly help the new Inkster Valley Golf Course.

ROMULUS NEWS

DIGEST

Graduation rites slated Saturday

Graduation rites for the Romulus High School Class of 1996 will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Romulus High Athletic Complex (behind the school building).

Class advisor Kathy Abdo revealed 39 students will graduate with honors and there will be six valedictorians. Sixty percent of the class will be going to college this fall and 40 percent expect to enter the job market.

School election slated Monday

Three candidates will seek to gain the two seats up for election on the Romulus School Board on Monday.

The candidates are incumbent Board President Debra Hoffman, former board member Michael Woods and former school bus driver Betty Lenossi.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Roof repairs are approved

Roof repairs were approved Monday night by the City Council for the Romulus Police Headquarters and the Senior Citizens Building.

Both contracts were awarded to low bidder M.W. Morss Roofing Inc. of Romulus with the cost of the Police Headquarters set at $10,971 and the Senior Citizens Building at $10,180.

Cichowski earns Juris Doctor degree

Cara Lynn Cichowski, a 1993 graduate of Romulus High School, recently graduated from the University of Detroit Law School with a Juris Doctor degree.

In August she will work for U.S. Magistrate Judge Virginia Morgan in Detroit.

Earlier she earned her bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State University.

While at the University of Detroit, Cichowski was an active member of the Moot Court Board of Directors. She received Best Oralist honors in Moot Court Competitions in Chicago, Cleveland and at the University of Detroit.

She is the daughter of Jerry and Susan Cichowski of Romulus and granddaughter of Fred and Barbara Wahrman of Romulus and Eileen Schaffer of New Boston.

Mad Bomber given okay

Daniel Cooney of the Mad Bomber Fireworks Productions Inc. has been given a no fee permit to provide the July 4th fireworks exhibition at Elmer Johnson Park in Romulus.

The fireworks display will begin at dusk (about 9 p.m.)

The city supplies approximately $6,000 toward the cost of the fireworks and approximately $2,000 in local donations are given.

Romulus student wins honor

Todd Richard Rakotz of Romulus was named to the honor roll at East Carolina University in Greenville.

He is the son of Carolyn W. and Richard W. Rakotz, also of Romulus. To be named to the list a student must have a B+ average with no grade below a C.

Apartments hit by fire

MCN Staff Writer

Five apartments in the Woodside Square Apartment Complex were heavily damaged by fire on May 28, Fire Chief David Allison said.

Heavy billowing smoke caused traffic jams on Wayne road as firemen fought the stubborn three-alarm fire.

No one was injured, Allison said, and those persons displaced by the fire were to be relocated to other apartments by the Woodside Square management.

The first alarm was sounded shortly after 2 p.m. as occupants spotted smoke coming out from under the rooftops of the single-story brick-style apartments just off Wayne road between North Alexander and Golden boulevard.

Firefighters were able to contain the fire to the single story apartment areas. Two story apartments were at either end of the apartment complex and were not damaged by the fire.

Scores of other apartment dwellers stood out on the sun-filled sidewalks nearby to watch the firefighters actions. Toward the end of the three-hour battle, viewers watched as one firefighter was accidentally struck in the back with a powerful blast of water from an aerial truck. It sent him sprawling on his stomach in a grass covered area in front of the apartments.

One happy occupant was thrilled when his valuable mandolin was recovered by firemen with little or no damage.

Allison said the investigation into the fire is continuing.

The juror, who passed a note to the judge as Paul Lewkowicz took the witness stand, said he didn't know him by name, but did recognize his face as he entered the court.

"We work in a large plant, so I didn't recognize him by name," the juror said, "but I thought you should know we work under the same roof."

Before the trial began on Friday all the potential jurors were given the names of the possible trial witnesses and the juror failed to recognize his fellow worker at that time. He was quickly dismissed by the judge.

Testimony at the trial centered on events of Nov. 6, 1995 in the City Council Chambers and later in the city's Cable Commission office and large basement hallway.

Oliver Warren, the city's cable coordinator, was the initial witness on Friday morning and testified he was wrestling with some technical problems in the cable control office, when he suddenly spotted Lewkowicz in the room with him.

Warren said Lewkowicz was loud and profane and began to touch some of the cable equipment that night as the regular City Council meeting was about to begin.

Patty Mawby Tierney, Warren's assistant, heard Lewkowicz's loud voice over her head set and urged Poe to follow her to the basement to help Warren.

Both Tierney and Poe revealed that they asked Lewkowicz to vacate the cable office, but he refused.

Finally Poe said he placed his hand on Lewkowicz's wrist and began to lead him out of the office area.

A struggle then took place all agreed involving Poe, Lewkowicz and Wheeler.

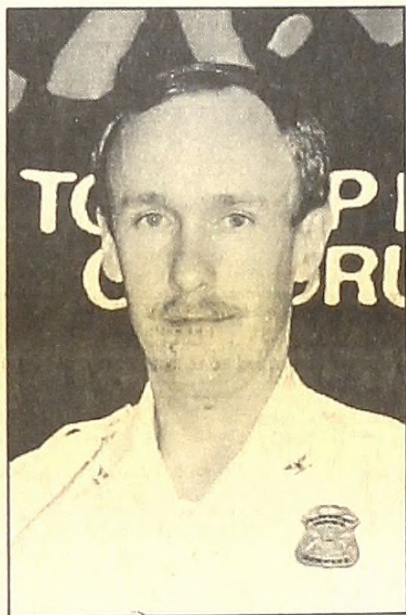

Poe admitted punching Lewkowicz several times in the face, but said that action didn't occur until after Lewkowicz "grabbed and squeezed my groin area."

Wheeler also later testified that he too struck Lewkowicz in the face after he was bitten on the wrist.

The janitor (who admitted earlier to being an Army Military Policeman and correction officer at a Michigan prison) said he threw his arms around Lewkowicz's chest after he thought Lewkowicz had struck Poe.

The reported bite was one of the key elements of the assault and battery charge against Lewkowicz.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Maria Petito also called Police Officers John Leacher and Don Smith as witnesses. The two officers had responded to Poe's radioed call for help at City Hall that night and admitted helping put Lewkowicz under control and in a waiting police car.

Leacher also wore a wrist support brace that he claimed was needed because of his battle to subdue Lewkowicz.

Defense attorney Michael Lynett of Bloomfield Hills called three witnesses, Starr Daily Bennett of Romulus, described as a long time classmate of Lewkowicz; Paul Lewkowicz, the defendant's brother and the defendant himself.

Bennett denied ever being Lewkowicz's girl friend, but said she knew and was friendly with him since elementary school.

On Nov. 6, she admitted being in the City Council Chambers when the city's cable monitor went snowy and thus failed to show what was happening at the Council meeting the night before the mayoral-council elections.

She said Lewkowicz planned to drive home and get his video camera to record the night's actions. Later she heard screaming from the basement and went downstairs and saw two men seated on Lewkowicz's back and legs.

"Suddenly I saw a pistol lying on the floor near them. I kicked it over to the side of the wall and stepped on top of it, so no one could use it," Bennett said.

She claimed "Steve's face was red and sort of scrunched up as he was lying on the floor. I didn't recognize him."

No further mention was made of the pistol during the rest of the trial.

Paul Lewkowicz then took the stand and testified he too went to the basement after the groans and yells were heard upstairs.

Lewkowicz said he saw Poe strike a man in the face nine times, while he was still lying on the floor. At that time, "I didn't know he was my brother," he continued.

"I grabbed Poe's wrist and asked him to 'take it easy,'" Lewkowicz said. Seconds later he said he heard someone say the "police are coming."

Lewkowicz claimed he didn't know Poe was a police officer until after some of the uniformed officers arrived.

Lewkowicz said his brother called out for him to call the Michigan State Police, but he was told by Councilman William Wadsworth (who also is a deputy county sheriff) that they would not respond to such a call.

After the seventh (alternate) juror was dismissed by Green, Steve Lewkowicz was called to the stand.

He admitted on many other occasions videotaping City Council sessions when they were held briefly at the courthouse during the City Hall renovation.

"When the council actions were not being telecast, I became suspicious that the blackout was planned by cable personnel," Lewkowicz said.

He went downstairs to find out what the problem was and admitted touching the cable equipment after Warren supposedly said "if you think you're so smart, why don't you fix it yourself," Lewkowicz said.

He denied being drunk that night or repeatedly calling Warren "a fu--ing liar."

Lewkowicz said he told Warren he thought the cable blackout "was a political scam...and you'll get caught sooner or later."

He claimed (along with other defense witnesses) that he didn't know Poe was a policeman or chief.

Lewkowicz also admitted tossing both Poe and Wheeler on the ground and falling down himself in the action. He later was struck repeatedly by Poe prior to grabbing and squeezing the chief's testicles, Lewkowicz said.

He claims he gave up his fight only when police threatened to shoot mace in his face.

Lewkowicz said he was agitated that night because "there is a lot of shame being arrested in City Hall." He continually denied degrading Warren with foul language. He would only admit to using the word "bulls--."

Lynett tried to use the fact that Poe did not flash his badge as a reason the arrest was not proper. He also said that since there were no signs outside the cable door saying "Authorized Personnel Only," it has to be assumed that the rooms were open to the public.

No sentencing date has been set yet.

Students to attend world seminar

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Two Romulus High School juniors, Nicole Marie Laskaska and Linda Ann Ryznar, will attend the 20th annual World Affairs Seminar at the University of Wisconsin next week.

Nicole is the daughter of Gregory and Audrey Laskaska and her $285 trip scholarship is sponsored by the Romulus Kiwanis Club. Linda is the daughter of John and Linda Ryznar and her trip is sponsored by the Romulus Progressive Club.

Romulus High School Counselor John Domas said the World Affairs Seminar is a personalized educational program for specially selected high school students.

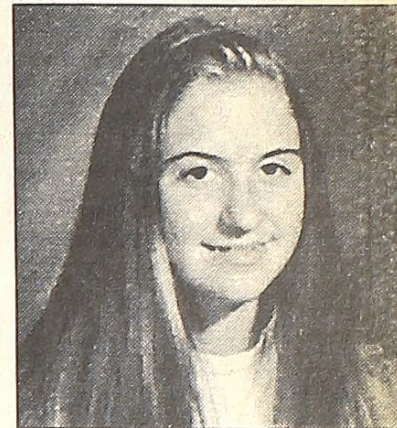

The primary purpose of the seminar is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high school students through a study of current issues, while at the same time providing the opportunity to discuss those same issues with youth who live in the countries involved.

One fifth of the youth (250) participating will be from foreign lands. Thus they will be able to share opinions as well as learn each others native customs, traditions, aspirations and heritages.

Another 1,000 students will be from the U.S. and Canada, Domas said. "The experience of living on a college campus will be both exciting and educational," Domas continued, "as students will spend five nights in dormitory rooms, hear various speakers, see films, view foreign exhibits and participate in group discussions."

Nicole Laskaska

Domas said he would like to thank the following for making the seminar opportunities possible: Mae Jackson and Bill Knight, counselors; Gerald Nault, Romulus Progressive and Kiwanis Clubs; Kathy Hurst and Rosalie Berlinn, 10th grade advisors; Daniel Hurst, Melvin Kimbrough and Mike Teasdale, principals; Bill Barnes, Ron Bayes, Mike Kernohan, teachers; and Judy Nutt, guidance office secretary.

Services conducted for Romulus pilot

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The funeral of Romulus pilot, Craig A. Livingston, 34, who was killed in a plane crash on May 26, 1996, was conducted at the Pawlus Funeral Home of Belleville on June 1, 1996.

Services were offered by the Rev. Donald (Mike) McClellan of the Romulus Wesleyan Church. Interment was in Michigan Memorial Park of Flat Rock.

Survivors include his father, Robert Livingston of California; two sisters, Kristine (Daniel) Lorbeske of Romulus and Patricia Halkyard of California; three God-children, Brandon, Haillie and Colton Laginess; a niece, Danielle Lorbeske; a nephew, Stephen Blasinsky, both of Romulus; and his best friends, Wayne and Cathy Laginess, also of Romulus.

He was predeceased by his mother, Barbara Livingston in 1995.

Mr. Livingston was active as a Cub scout co-leader. He was self employed and enjoyed piloting, woodworking and painting pictures. He also was skilled at playing the piano and guitar.

Probe postponed

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Mayor William Oakley, who vows he will not be part of any internal probe of past Tax Increment Finance Authority financial activities, has agreed to sit down with citizen critic James Rarey to air various issues he has raised.

Oakley told the City Council on Monday night that he would be glad to personally sit down with Rarey and other officials if needed, to come up with answers to Rarey's concerns on any alleged local TIFA misdoings.

Rarey agreed to wait a week or two before he seeks any further action, but will meet with Oakley in the meantime to formally present his questions on various aspects of TIFA issues and others.

The week before Rarey had asked for an indepth probe of issues dating back to the administration of former Mayor Beverly McAnally.

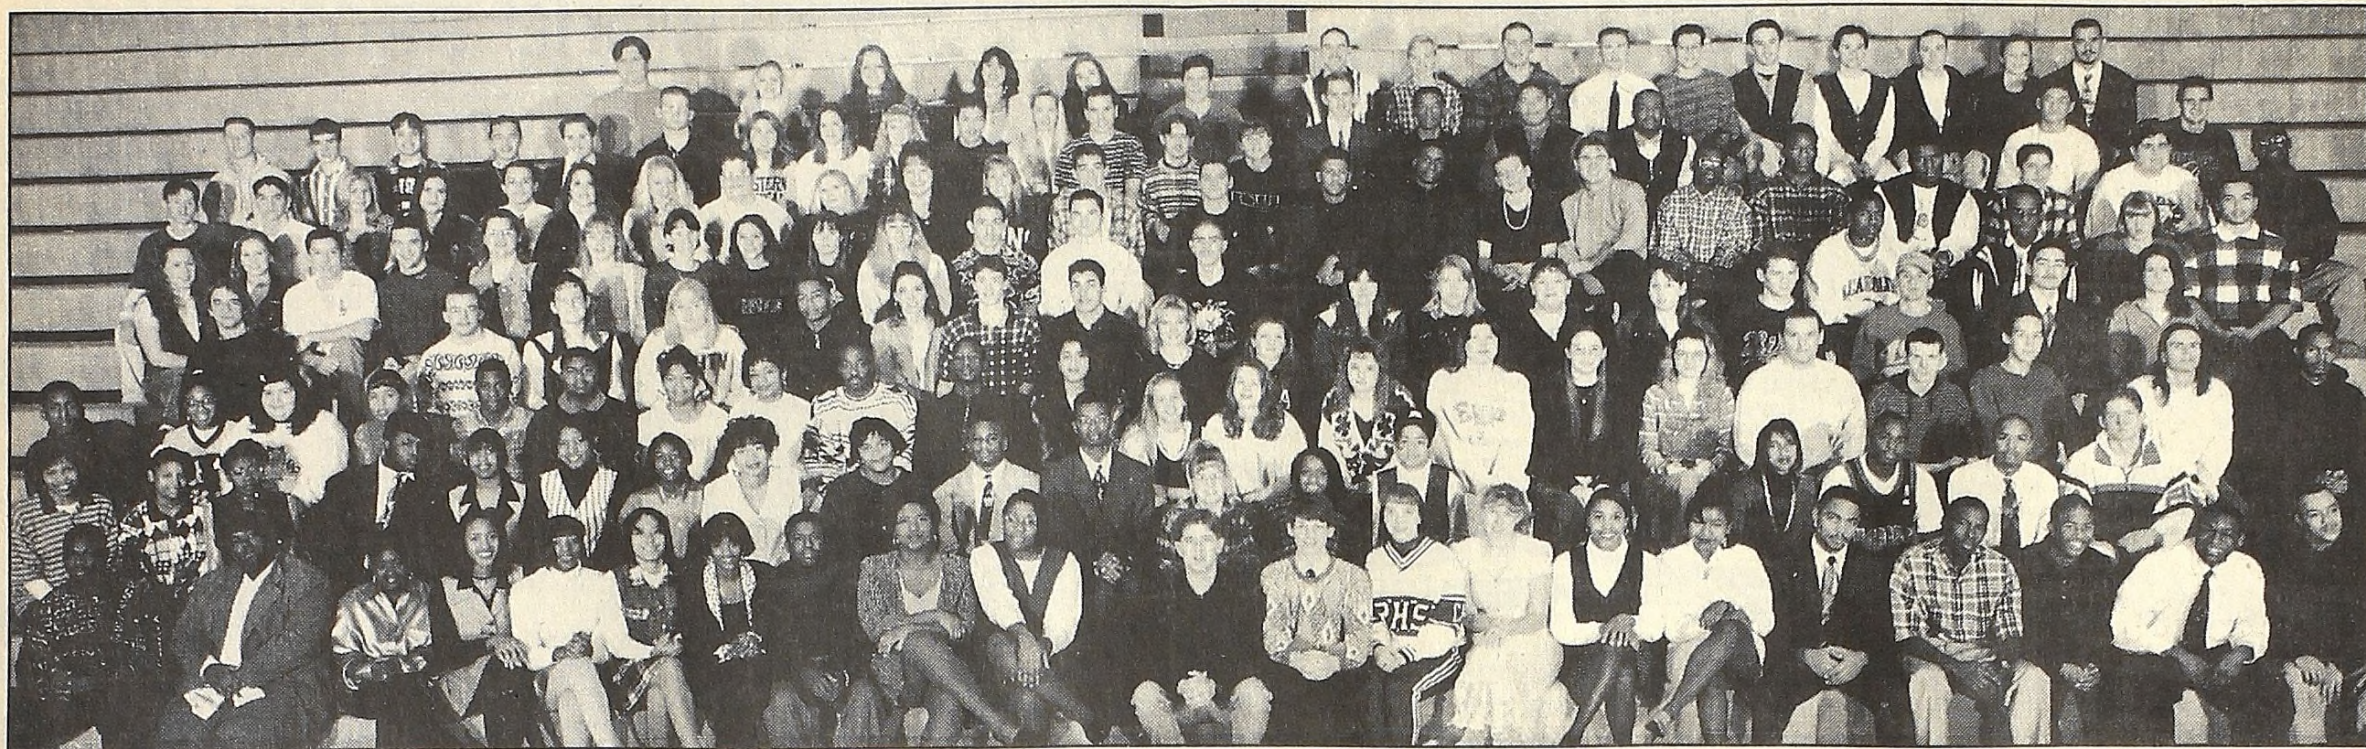

He outlined three ways the investigation could have begun: via the council, via the mayor or by calling in the Michigan State Police. Because of the political implications, Rarey recommended the state police.

Rarey reminded the council on Monday night that once such a probe request is given to an outside entity and it is accepted, the council cannot set guidelines at that late date.

Used vehicle superstore opens

Vehicles Plus, Michigan's most high-tech used vehicle superstore, celebrated its grand opening recently.

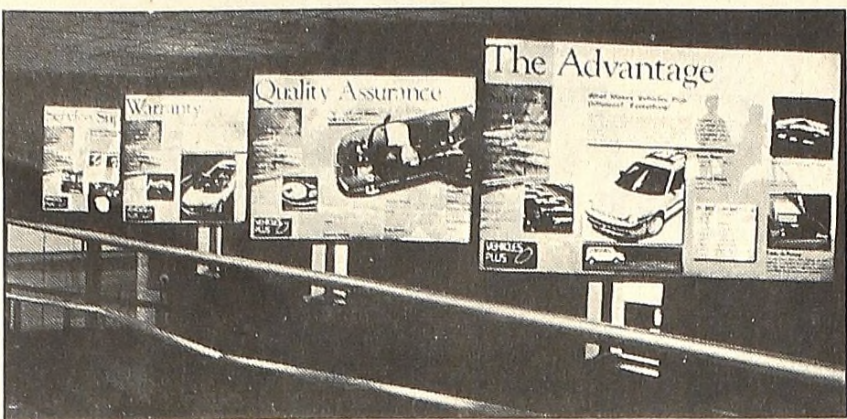

Owner/President Tom Szott hosted a special showing of the facilities to local officials and guests.

The new superstore occupies three buildings totaling 75,000 square feet on the 12-acre site, located on Telegraph Road, three miles south of Interstate-94. It is adjacent to Szott's Jeep/Eagle dealership -- but a long way apart philosophically.

"This high-tech, customer-friendly facility is our response to what used car buyers say they want: no haggle, one-price shopping with a wide selection of low-mileage, nearly new vehicles," said Szott.

Customers will get that and much more, he said.

Using one of 12 "touch screen" monitors in the reception area, customers can see pictures, equipment and prices of cars they are interested in; obtain print-outs; take a test drive; get a trade estimate and complete a purchase in less than an hour. The system eliminates the "trudgery" which many consumers associate with car shopping.

A lot diagram on the print-outs instantly locates vehicles for viewing or test drives. Two touch screen monitors near the entrances are available for use outside 24 hours a day.

Customers may shop at a leisurely pace, using amenities that include a cafe, a play area for their children, clothing and parts boutiques and a giant video wall which provides brief programs on the many services available to customers.

"The store design and atmosphere is different than the traditional auto dealership or used car lot," Szott said.

A nucleus of trained and talented managers in key positions and approximately 100 other employees, are specially trained to assist customers from start to finish or whenever they want help.

Emphasis is on convenient, efficient assistance in a pleasant environment. There is no hard sell. Sales people are salaried and don't work on commission. There is no dickering on price.

Vehicles Plus will carry an inventory of nearly 900 cars and light duty trucks, U.S. makes and some imports, no more than five years old with mileage of 70,000 or less. Each car carries a three-month, 3,000-mile warranty and a five-day money-back satisfaction guarantee. Trade-ins aren't contingent on a purchase.

Financing and service contracts are available and customers may even lease a vehicle. Vehicles Plus offers conventional automotive or lease financing from multiple sources, alternatives for credit-challenged individuals, insurance and fair priced service contracts.

"We believe Vehicles Plus is on the crest of the developing trend toward automotive superstores. We're not the first in the U.S., but we're the first to serve this area. We're encouraged by the fact that wherever this no-haggle approach to selling is offered, it works."

Sales business hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Service hours are 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Moore turns up the heat in Inkster kitchen

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Andre Moore's motto is, "If you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen," and does he ever mean it!

Walk into the kitchen of Moore's Inkster home while he's cooking, and you're likely to be hit with a blast of hot air. He explained that he does all the cooking because no one else in his family can take the high temperatures found in the kitchen.

In Toya Moore's letter nominating her husband for our "Best Cook on the Block" (BCOTB) contest, she states, "He is a wonderful person. He does all the cooking at our home and never once complains. He has 25 years of experience in the food industry and enjoys cooking."

Although he is just cooking on the side now, catering a lot of private weddings and family reunions, Moore, 46, has about 31 years of experience in the restaurant business.

"I started when I was 15-years-old as a short order cook in Detroit across from the 10th Precinct," Moore said.

At age 9, he was at A & P helping to carry out groceries. "The food business has been my business all these years," he said, "and I love it. One good thing about this is, people got to eat."

Moore is one of 10 children, and he says his mother made sure each of her children could cook. "Mom was instrumental in getting us in the kitchen during big holidays," he said. "She always said, 'you're really going to need to know this one day.'"

Moore's specialty is homemade barbecue sauce, which he says is made with a ketchup base and many other ingredients, but he is tight-lipped about what those might be.

"A company in Troy has called on numerous occasions," Moore explained. "They keep saying, 'we would like to sample the barbecue sauce, please give us your recipe so we can market it.' I haven't done that yet, but I may do it eventually."

Moore says he doesn't allow his wife to cook or do the grocery shopping, because he prefers doing it himself. "I'm like a lady in a shopping mall," he said, laughing. "I have to buy everything I see. If it's on sale, it's in my cart."

He said on the occasions he doesn't cook, his family lets him hear it. "My son got on me the other day," Moore said. "He told me, 'you never cook anymore. What's up with that?'"

Moore sets up a menu each week because he likes to give his family something different each day. "I like to mix it up for them," he said. "I have a family that don't like left-overs."

At Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Moore was a culinary arts major. He worked in fast food for about 20 years in management as a trouble shooter. "I'm real critical of restaurants," Moore said. "If the silverware is not clean, or if they touch money and then handle food. That's why I was so advanced in my job. You don't serve the customer something you wouldn't eat yourself."

When he decided to get away from the food industry, Moore said he didn't put his cooking on the back burner. Instead, he split his time, 50/50.

Toya claims it was only natural that she would nominate her husband for this contest. "He is the cook of the house, and everyone who has experienced his food thinks he is the best cook around, and I think he is too."

Moore said he gets requests to cater weddings and reunions after people hear of him through word-of-mouth. He doesn't publicize.

When he's not cooking, Moore is doing work for the Institute of Social Research for the University of Michigan.

Moore has developed a following from his cooking expertise. In fact, two of his friends make requests for his peach cobbler. He said he mostly tries to stay away from baking, but he does do it occasionally.

You will probably have a difficult time locating a measuring cup in Moore's kitchen. "I very seldom measure the ingredients," he said. "I'm a taster. If it doesn't taste good to me, it won't taste good to them."

If you have a large gathering, Moore has a recipe for homemade macaroni and cheese.

Macaroni and Cheese
2 pounds macaroni noodles
1/2 gallon homogenized milk
1 stick margarine
1 tablespoon onion salt
1 pound cheddar cheese
3 pounds American cheese
Boil the macaroni noodles in a large pan until done. Make cheese sauce separately. Dice cheese into milk. Add margarine and onion salt. Let mixture simmer on low heat, stirring almost constantly for 30 minutes. Mix in with noodles and serve.

Cabbage Soup
Head of cabbage (3-5 pound)
1 large can whole tomatoes
1/2 stalk of celery
1 whole onion
Chicken-flavored bullion cubes
Water
Dab of seasoning salt and pepper

Dice up cabbage. Fill large stock pot with three quarts of water, add cabbage. Dice up celery (fine), onion, and tomatoes, and add to pot, including the tomato juice. Add in 15-20 bullion cubes, salt and pepper. Cook soup for half hour, and let it stand for an hour. Optional ingredients include green peppers, potatoes, and rice. Makes about a gallon of soup.

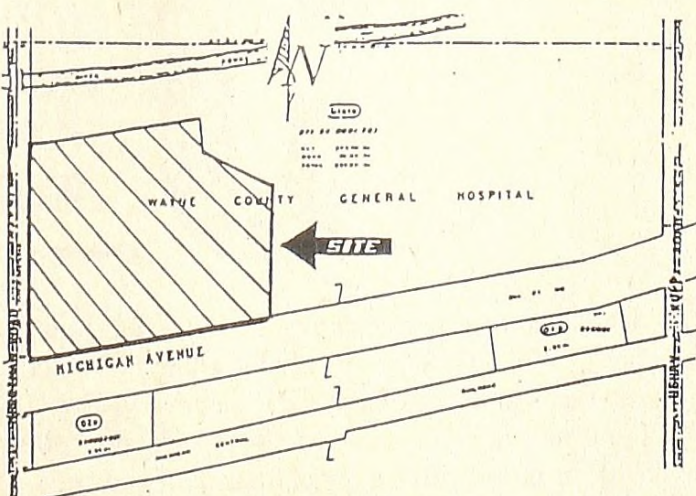

Banana Pudding
2 boxes vanilla wafers
5 pounds bananas
Number 10 can vanilla premixed pudding (find at Gordon's)

Cut bananas into slices. In small dish, layer wafers, half of bananas, and half of pudding, and repeat. Smooth out pudding on top and refrigerate.

P.S. Try as we did, we didn't manage to pry a barbecue sauce recipe from Moore.

Smith family hoping for 'happy ending'

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Stephanie Smith, 7, of Belleville is trying to imagine what it will feel like when she is free of her mystery illness.

Over the Easter holiday, Stephanie, along with her father Paul and mother Debbie, visited the White House, where Stephanie received a tour of the Oval Office from President Bill Clinton.

She also met First Lady Hillary Rodham-Clinton, but was somewhat disappointed to find that Socks (the First Cat) had a conflict in his schedule and could not meet her on this trip.

“Not only was our trip to Washington a wonderful experience,” Debbie Smith stated, “but, upon our arrival home, our doctors were notified by Bethesda Hospital and the National Institute of Health that President Clinton had contacted them on Steph's behalf.”

Smith said the hospital has all of Stephanie's records, and should be contacting them soon on the possibility of performing a stem cell transplant, which may cure Stephanie's disease.

According to Smith, Bethesda has performed similar operations on two teenage girls with lupus, and both are in total remission.

“We are so very grateful for President Clinton's intervention as Steph's joints are feeling good, but her organs and bone make-up have been greatly affected by all the long-term chemotherapy,” Smith stated.

She explained that the family will be away from home for months, “hopefully with a good result.”

Stephanie will have to be given massive doses of chemotherapy to shut down the bone marrow. Then as her marrow recovers, they will draw off the stem cells, the first cells produced by the immune system. “This will be a frightening and challenging time for us all,” Smith said, adding that there is a 60 percent survival rate.

“Steph has been informed of the entire procedure and all the possible outcomes,” she said. “The thought of total remission was hard for her to grasp. She just can't imagine how it will feel to be well.”

Stephanie has been busy lately, trying to get in some activities before the operation. Aside from her trip to Washington, D.C., Stephanie was involved in two pageants, along with two regional competitions where she received enough points in both for two gold medals and the right to compete in nationals.

She also won an award for a book she wrote for a Young Authors contest. Stephanie wrote and illustrated a book titled, Friends are Like a Rainbow. It was about a girl named Heather who had cancer, and how important her best friend Tabitha was to her.

The Smith family expressed their thanks to everyone in the community for their prayers and support.

“We never would have had the strength to endure without all of your good wishes. Our long battle may finally have a happy ending.”

Parental responsibility law to be revised

By Tony Bruscatto
Special Writer

The next time your teenager gets into trouble, he or she may not be the only ones facing the law. As a parent, you could be cited by the city for failure to keep control.

City fathers were the first in Michigan to write a Parental Responsibility Ordinance to make parents accountable for children who consistently get into trouble with the law. However, after citing parents in several cases, the city lost in court to constitutional challenges.

The Wayne City Council Held the first of two hearings on a modified ordinance last month, which City Attorney Richard Clark believes will withstand further court challenges.

"The changes I've recommended were written by a juvenile probate judge in St. Joseph County, and should withstand constitutional challenges," said Clark.

"Unlike the most recent parental responsibility case in St. Clair Shores where the parents were charged criminally, our ordinance is a civil infraction which would result in a hearing, not a jury trial, and a fine, not jail time," said Clark.

"The ordinance is for parents of repeat offenders who fail to attempt to correct their child's repeated behavior for such acts as curfew violation, malicious destruction of property and graffiti writing."

The revised ordinance gets one more public hearing in front of the council before being enacted.

Boy, 12, succumbs to illness

David Ecker, a 12-year-old quadriplegic, died on Monday from complications of his illness.

He had suffered from a rare form of muscular dystrophy which had limited his movement to his head and shoulders. He had been placed on a ventilator at four months and remained on total life support since that time.

David had lived with his foster parents, John and Darlene Russ of Belleville, since he was approximately 3. He attended school at Edgemont Elementary School and South Middle School.

A device connected to his wheelchair had provided David with the motion to write and draw, and a nurse accompanied him to classes.

When David was 6, the community rallied to collect $6,200 to purchase a lap-top computer with voice synthesizer to enable him to communicate with his teachers and fellow students.

David was a familiar sight in Belleville where he attended various community events in his wheelchair. He was the recipient of waves and good wishes from area residents as he made his way through the community with his nurse or a family member in attendance.

Arrangements are being handled by the David C. Brown Funeral Home in Belleville.

O.K., risk takers... here's a real challenge:

Defying the odds can be fun in recreation and rewarding in business. But deadly where your health is concerned. Even if you haven't had any heart problems so far, today's culture can burden your body's systems. Add stress, less time for relaxation and a poor diet and you could be accumulating risk.

Ask yourself these questions:

Smoking: Have you stopped? A smoker dies an average of 7 to 8 years sooner than a non-smoker.

Blood Pressure: Is your blood pressure above 140/90? Almost 58 million people have high blood pressure.

Cholesterol Level: Did you know that for every 1% you lower your blood cholesterol level, your risk of heart attack drops by 2%?

Oakwood Healthcare System is committed to helping you avoid heart risk. Call us at 1-800-543-WELL for a complimentary Heart Risk Appraisal. Return it and we'll send you your personal heart risk evaluation and recommendations to help decrease your risk.

We also offer health education classes near you. And if you don't have a personal physician, we'll provide you with information so you can make the choice that's right for you.

Play it safe with your health. Call us at 1-800-543-WELL.

On June 20, voters in school districts across Western Wayne will cast their ballots for the school board candidates of their choice. In addition, Van Buren School District voters will have the opportunity to vote on four proposals that would offer varying levels of repairs to existing school structures and build a new elementary school.

The Van Buren proposals have caused a rash of controversy and a flood of letters both for and against the proposals. Here's a description of the proposals:

Proposal 1- A $40 million plus bond proposal to construct, furnish and equip a new elementary school; construct additions to existing buildings; refurbishing and re-equipping existing buildings for technology infrastructure and other things.

Proposal 2- A $6 million bond proposal to equip the schools with a technology infrastructure.

Proposal 3- A $2.25 million bond proposal to buy buses.

Proposal 4- In addition, the district is seeking a 1.4 mill increase, called a sinking fund, to be used solely for the purpose of constructing and repairing school buildings.

An all-inclusive ballot item that included many of these items was defeated soundly in October, of 1995. The board was smart to come back with the four choices versus another all-or-nothing proposal. Now, voters, depending upon their generosity can pick and choose their poison. If all proposals are approved, a homeowner with a $100,000 house will have $300 added to his tax bill.

Van Buren voters appear to be caught in a catch 22 situation. Buildings have fallen into disrepair from a long history of neglect and poor original design. Classrooms have not been upgraded with computers like neighboring districts. Now they are being asked to pay for the sins of the past.

Like most voters, we don't like it, but it appears to be a necessary evil. If Van Buren wants to educate its children properly, then parents and property owners are going to have to pay. We support each of the proposals, which all combined, are still pared back from the original October proposal.

Also in Van Buren, seven candidates are competing for two four-year seats. Our choices to lead Van Buren through very critical times are Mary Jo Marsh and Ralph Nodwell. Others running are incumbent Sherry Frazier, Thomas Bowles, Katherine Hammons, Vesta Losen and Linda Rivello.

Inkster voters will decide on two tax issues. Proposal 1 is an 18-mill renewal and Proposal 2 seeks 3 mills for one year. If passed, the additional millage would allow Inkster to reinstate physical education, music and art classes in grades K-6.

Inkster schools have been in a state of turmoil for a long, long time. Just this year the State demanded $800,000 for adult education overbills. However, new superintendent Terrel LeCesne has done a terrific job rallying the district and getting a positive message out to parents and citizens. Because of this, we feel voters should approve both proposals.

We are also recommending Inkster voters choose school activist James Epps and incumbent Addie Faulk to the two four-year terms available. Other candidates are Claudia Williams and George Williams.

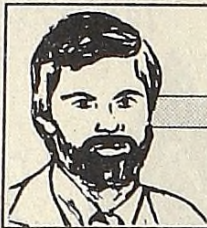

In the Wayne-Westland School District a spirited campaign has developed between five candidates vying for two four-year seats left vacant by retiring School Board President Bud Winter and Richard LeBlanc, who was elected to Westland City Council.

We recommend former city councilman David Cox, an insurance agent with three children in the district. Our second choice would be either Robin Moore, a controller and avid volunteer or Ed Turner, who was appointed to the board in January. Other choices would be Jack Stange and Marshall Wright.

In the Plymouth-Canton School District, four candidates are vying for two trustee seats. We recommend Jack Farrow be retained. Farrow is an articulate voice who consistently calls for strong commitment to students and technology. We also recommend Paul Schrauben, who has regularly attended board meetings, has the strong financial background and knowledge of the issues the district faces. However, candidates Elizabeth Givens and Jeff Phillips are also highly qualified. We'll leave the tough decision to you.

Three are running for two seats in Romulus. MCN recommends that current board president Debra Hoffman and challenger Michael Woods be selected to fill the four-year terms. Hoffman deserves to continue working on a number of new board initiatives that began recently and Woods, a former school trustee, should be added so that he can truly become the bridge to the minority families so critically needed today. The second challenger is Betty Lenosi.

The final endorsement (your vote) is the most important. Show up on June 10 and vote for your preferred candidates.

Put record straight

To the editor:

I believe that it is time to correct a misrepresentation concerning the Citizens Against Crime Committee, especially since the facts have not been presented in the most recent letter printed. I have been surprised by the number of people who have approached me regarding the CAC meeting held on April 17, 1996. I was absent from the meeting due to complications from asthma and pneumonia. The Board of the committee was not aware that a past committee member and candidate for the school board had requested the treasurer to introduce and announce her candidacy. If we had been aware of this inappropriate request, it would have been prevented.

I have served on this committee since the very beginning in 1987. It was, and still is, the policy not to get involved in campaigns and elections as a committee. Unfortunately the treasurer did not realize that expressing his personal opinion while chairing a meeting would be construed as an endorsement of the committee itself. Over the years, several of our original and continuing board members such as Ed Rowe, Donna McEachern, and Al Haidous have run for elected offices. They have never compromised this committee by using it to promote their political

Crime prevention is a very serious concern that requires the participation of every person, business, school, and neighborhood regardless of their political affiliations or beliefs. Regardless of the results of any election, this committee will continue letting the officials know our views and support for any policy or law that will impact crime or crime prevention. Providing quality education and special school programs will directly affect our efforts to curtail juvenile crime. However, as far as the Citizens Against Crime Committee is concerned, we encourage everyone to know your candidates, become familiar with the important issues, and go to the polls to vote for the candidate that you feel will do the best job! Let's not get caught up in political rhetoric and lose sight that we all care about our schools, families, and communities! I will not be as presumptuous as past writers to say that anyone's views or concerns are "nit-picking." Everyone has the right to express their own personal views, but please, let's keep this personal and not involve a committee that tries very hard to promote community involvement! I would like to extend a humble apology to any candidate or anyone else that may have been slighted because of this incident.

Hopefully, this will not deter anyone from attending the Citizens Against Crime Committee meetings or from participating in a non-political citizen's committee. Politicians will come and go. Unfortunately, crime will always be a concern!

Compassion appreciated

To the editor:

Following the tragic loss of my wife and daughter in the crash of ValueJet Flight #592, your reporter, Heather Needham, called my home to request an interview. Realizing that she was only "doing her job," and feeling that talking about my terrible loss might actually help my distressed mental and emotional state, I agreed to be interviewed. I would like to inform you that Ms. Needham showed great sensitivity and compassion during the time spent in my home. Her genuine concern for my feelings at that time were very apparent.

Your reporter should be commended for her actions during this very sensitive situation, as her actions were far above what one often thinks of the news media's handling of face-to-face interviews. Please thank her for me.

Violence feared

To the editor:

I am writing you concerning all the violence that has somehow lead to a bomb threat at a high school. When will all this end and how long will it take for all this to be over?

Must other young innocent people die before anything is done! I speak to you as a concerned citizen of Inkster. We must come together and see how we can solve these killings and this violence. Somehow it makes you begin to wonder are you over there in Vietnam fighting the war; maybe Inkster is another Vietnam.

Community, I urge you to let's come together because it takes more than one or two to make a whole before this society gets any worse.

their children. Presently our schools and students lag behind in modern technology.

Some people urge not to spend money on technology because it becomes outdated. My response is, books and materials become outdated, but we do not stop purchasing and updating books and materials. Computer and technology are everywhere. If Van Buren students are to compete successfully in schools and the work place they must have the opportunity to use up to date equipment and programs.

The building facilities at Belleville High School need updating. They were designed in the early 1950's when the sports, band and choir program were much smaller. Music rooms are inadequately ventilated, filled well beyond the rooms capacity and with the much larger band and the poor acoustics makes the volume of the band deafening.

The gym facility is very inadequate for a high school with Belleville's student population. Presently there are 35 total men's and women's sport teams involving 620 athletes. During the winter months when activities can not be done outside the gym is used many days from 5:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. Teams practice before the school day and into the late evening. With a larger sports facility all teams could practice after school then go home to do their studying. With the present gym there is no opportunity for the community to use the gym or for a student intramural program. You can travel in any direction from Belleville and you will find better, larger gymnasiums than at Belleville High School. The Lincoln Community has learned that their new gym-recreation facility has not only benefited the students but their entire community by giving them a recreation area where individuals and groups can work out and compete.

The aged BHS swimming pool is inaccessible to the handicapped and some elderly. It also does not meet modern safety standards and due to old plumbing is in constant repair. A new pool would alleviate these problems.

I read in letters from other residents saying if the schools were better maintained we would not need a bond issue. I am sure if you live in an older house you realize that plumbing, electrical, furnaces and roofs eventually wear out. I am very proud to have guests come into Belleville High School because it is very clean and well maintained inside and out. The bath rooms and desks are free of graffiti, the halls and rooms are always clean and the outside free of litter. That is what you expect a school to look like. But visit some of the surrounding districts and see the condition of their schools and you will see a difference. We have well maintained, clean school and grounds.

Some will read this letter and say Peggy Curtis works for the schools so she is only interested in making her life better. The truth is, I am in the final years of my career so many of the improvements may not be finished before I retire. I am interested in Van Buren pupils and making our community one in which we are all proud.

The youth of this community deserve to be on an equal footing with other students in our state. In order to do that they need updated facility's and learning tools. It is an entire community's responsibility to educate and prepare its youth for the adult world. If we do not, we live with the consequences forever.

Good child care needed

To the editor:
Quality child care ... finding it is a dilemma for most working parents today, with much of the search being based on what "feels right." With over 90,000 licensed child care providers in the country, where do parents even begin to narrow down their choices to the one provider that will provide the best care for their child?

One of the child care industry's best-kept secrets that could help many parents in their search for a quality child care center is accreditation through the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC). NAEYC implemented a nationally recognized, voluntary accreditation system 10 years ago. Through this system, NAEYC established a set of national standards that requires centers to meet the highest standards for quality on more than 150 criteria. Of the 90,000 child care providers in the country, only 5 percent have accomplished this significant goal.

Parents should not become disillusioned that all child care centers are not the same. Quality centers do exist, and the most important way for parents to find quality care is to first understand what to look for. Accreditation helps parents in locating these quality centers. NAEYC publishes a brochure that describes quality care. A copy of this brochure may be obtained by calling NAEYC at (800) 424-2460. Children's World also has made available to parents a quality checklist describing what to look for in a quality environment.

It's time that child care's best-kept secret got out! Parents need to know about this valuable tool available to them in locating a quality child care program. It is vital that parents become educated on NAEYC Accreditation.

Team praised

To the editor:
The secretaries of South Middle School, namely Beatrice Leslie, Susan M. Peruski and Judy Robbins, would like to give our support to the best principal/assistant principal team to be at South Middle School.

We have been in the Van Buren public school system for many years.

Mr. Houston and Mrs. Mida complement each other, the school, and the school district. This is the best that South has ever been. We are a family again and we think that if anyone would take the time to spend any amount of time there experiencing this, instead of judging from afar, it would be very evident that this is a great school thanks to this team.

Mr. Houston asks his staff to do the job they were hired to do. Unfortunately, previous administrators have allowed our staff to become lax in some of their duties and consequently a few of the staff have become disgruntled. He does his job above and beyond the call of duty but only asks his staff to do theirs. He is here before school hours, after school hours, and on weekends, making sure everything is running smoothly. He is a caring, hard-working professional.

Mrs. Mida has almost completed her first year in an administrative position and it has been wonderful with her in the office. She is "mom" to the students and they respect and even listen to her.

This team should stay together! It's the best! We could go on and on but must submit this letter as time is of the essence.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Hospice needs volunteers

To the editor:
Most people know that hospice provides a special kind of care for terminally ill persons and their families. But it is less known that volunteers are the backbone of a hospice program. They provide services patients and their families would no otherwise receive.

Nationally, nearly 80 percent of hospice workers are volunteers: last year, they gave more than 5 million hours of their spare time to serve the dying and their families. Locally, volunteers donated more than 1500 hours.

Volunteers at the Karmanos Cancer Institute share their time by offering friendship and support to persons dying of cancers. They run errands, write letters, spend time with younger family members and play a major role in the daily activities of the hospice program. The most important thing they can do is "be there" for patients, reassure them they are not alone, to hold a hand or offer a smile of encouragement. The strength, courage and graceful humor of a hospice patient provides a constant source of inspiration, and volunteers usually feel they gain more than they have been able to give.

The Institute's Hospice Program provides volunteer training classes throughout the year. For more information about hospice volunteer opportunities, please call Cathy Dominici at (313) 833-0715 extension 763. A spring training class has been scheduled to begin on Thursday, May 9, 6 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. at the Institute's Dearborn Regional office, 3807 Monroe Street.

Rain showers could mar outdoor events

Chances of showers are forecast for Thursday and Friday with moderating temperatures continuing into the weekend.

Thursday
Strong chance of rain and/or thundershowers are slated Thursday with highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s.

Friday
Thundershower possibilities continue Friday with similar temperatures of highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s.

Saturday
Skies will lighten up a bit, but remain cloudy. Highs will remain in the 70s and lows will rise to about 55.

Weatherman Al's tip: Be prepared for light sprinkles on Saturday if you are planning any outdoor graduation parties. But most of the day should be ideal for those extra large family outings.

Civil War flags on exhibit

Patriotism, pomp and circumstance will be the order of the day as the Michigan Historical Museum in Lansing unveils its year-long exhibit Rally Round the Flags 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 15.

The exhibit will rotate 56 Michigan Civil War flags, on a regular basis, from the 160 Civil War battle flags in the museum's collection.

What's new in summer films?

The list of new films includes Spy Hard with Leslie Nielsen as Agent WD-40 in a comedy-adventure which combines high-tech gadgetry with low-brow humor. Nicollette Sheridan plays the beautiful and mysterious Agent 3.14.

Eddie with Whoopi Goldberg, Frank Langella, Dennis Farina and Richard Jenkins is the story of a die-hard New York Knicks fan (Goldberg) who is selected to be an honorary coach.

The Rock, starring Sean Connery, Nicholas Cage and Ed Harris is an action-packed adventure about a disgruntled general and a team of commandos who seize control of Alcatraz Island and threaten to launch rockets with deadly poison if their demands are not met.

Classic animation meets classic literature when The Hunchback of Notre Dame is on the big screen. Don't look for too much of the classic story line of the Victor Hugo novel, but there is lots of music and exciting animation.

Phenomenon stars John Travolta as an ordinary man who is thrust into the limelight when he experiences a blinding flash that leave him with newfound intelligence and an insatiable appetite for learning. Also starring Robert Duvall and Forest Whitaker. The comedy-drama will be released on July 10.

Kazaam is a magic-filled family comedy about an inner city youth who finds a battered boombox which houses a seven-foot, 3,000-year-old genie.

Wayne beauty looks forward to new career

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

It was a cloudy, dreary day when Jennifer Basner came back to her home town for a visit, but the 1992 Wayne Memorial High School graduate brightened the afternoon with her winning smile and sparkling enthusiasm.

The reason for her enthusiasm is her blossoming career, which has taken her from Michigan to Hawaii and Hollywood.

Although she never appeared in a school play while attending the Wayne-Westland schools, Basner took dance lessons as a youngster and admits to "always wanting to be in the spotlight."

"I love to dance. When the music starts, I come alive with the music," she said.

"I started by entering local bikini contests, and won a Hawaiian Tropic competition," Basner said. "I went to the state finals and placed, but didn't win."

Basner said she was disappointed that she couldn't represent Michigan in the pageant in Hawaii, but a lucky break resulted in a second chance for the 21-year-old Wayne beauty contestant.

"I had sent my photos to Hawaiian Tropic in Florida, where the company is based, and I got a phone call that I had been picked for the photo entry in the contest. A month later I was headed to Hawaii," she said.

"There were so many beautiful girls there from all over the world -- 180 of them -- and only four are picked to advance to the international finals," Basner said. "I didn't make the top four, but I did meet the owner Ron Rice who asked if I would be interested in traveling for the company to sponsored events -- car races, charity events and product placements in movies," she said.

"Who wouldn't?"

"It's a dream job. I stay at the finest hotels and travel all over. First, I went to Maui for a tennis promotion, and then I began traveling to events with seven to 10 other girls," Basner said. "We wear the company T-shirts and shorts and promote the product -- tanning preparations."

Basner said participating in the various events has been a lot of fun, and she has met many celebrities in connection with her appearances.

She is pictured in the Miss Hawaiian Tropic 27th anniversary book with former Chrysler chairman Lee Iacocca and Ron Rice at a children's charity event.

"Sometimes, when I'm making an appearance, kids come up to me for my autograph, and I really get a kick out of that," she said. "I can't believe they'd want my autograph."

In the six months that she was with Hawaiian Tropic, she has traveled to the Cannes Film Festival in France, many places in California, Florida and Hawaii plus Salt Lake City and the Western ski country -- Aspen and Lake Tahoe. She made a day trip to Italy and visited Monaco for the races.

"I was in New Orleans for Mardi Gras, and that was a lot of fun," said Basner. "The most beautiful place I've been is Maui."

"On a previous trip to Los Angeles I met an agent, took a few acting classes with a coach and went on some auditions," Basner said. "I'm looking forward to going to Las Vegas in June. A new Chevy Chase film is being made about vacations and I'll be one of the Hawaiian Tropic girls who are extras in the film."

Between trips she is residing in Wayne with her sister, Carrie Shelton, but more realistically, she is "living out of a suitcase," ready to venture out for her next appearance and hopefully a film career in the future.

Author delves into history of automobiles

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

Robert Szudarek's life-long fascination with automobiles has resulted in the publication of a book, How Detroit Became the Automotive Capital, which boasts more than 600 historical photographs and a wealth of information and behind-the-scenes stories about cars.

Szudarek wisely decided that 1996 -- the 100th anniversary of the automotive industry -- would be the ideal time to publish a book about Detroit and its involvement with the industry.

"The problem was I only had three years to do it," the author said. "I'm an engineer, not a professional writer, so it was a real challenge."

Szudarek said he worked every available minute of the day and all his weekends to complete the book on schedule.

"I literally worked on it all of the time," he said. "Anytime I had a minute or two, I had the book on my mind."

With numerous activities scheduled to celebrate the historic anniversary, Szudarek's book is bound to benefit from the spin-off publicity of the car shows, parades, exhibits, newspaper and magazine articles plus television coverage throughout the year.

"And, the book makes a great Father's Day gift. It's much better than a tie," Szudarek quipped.

The 370-page book is written in a style that is conducive to browsing, as well as for the serious reader.

"Today, a lot of people like to read for short periods and then put the book down and pick it up again later," the author said. "The book is divided into a lot of small chapters so that one can read a chapter or two a time."

Perhaps so, but automobile enthusiasts -- as most Motown area residents are -- will probably become fascinated by the book and not want to put it down. At least, that was the response of the reviewer.

Growing up in Detroit in a family of auto workers -- father, brother, uncles and cousins -- cars were always one of the main topics of interest and conversation. Memories of the "old days" in the industry were plentiful, but not as detailed and abundant as in Szudarek's work.

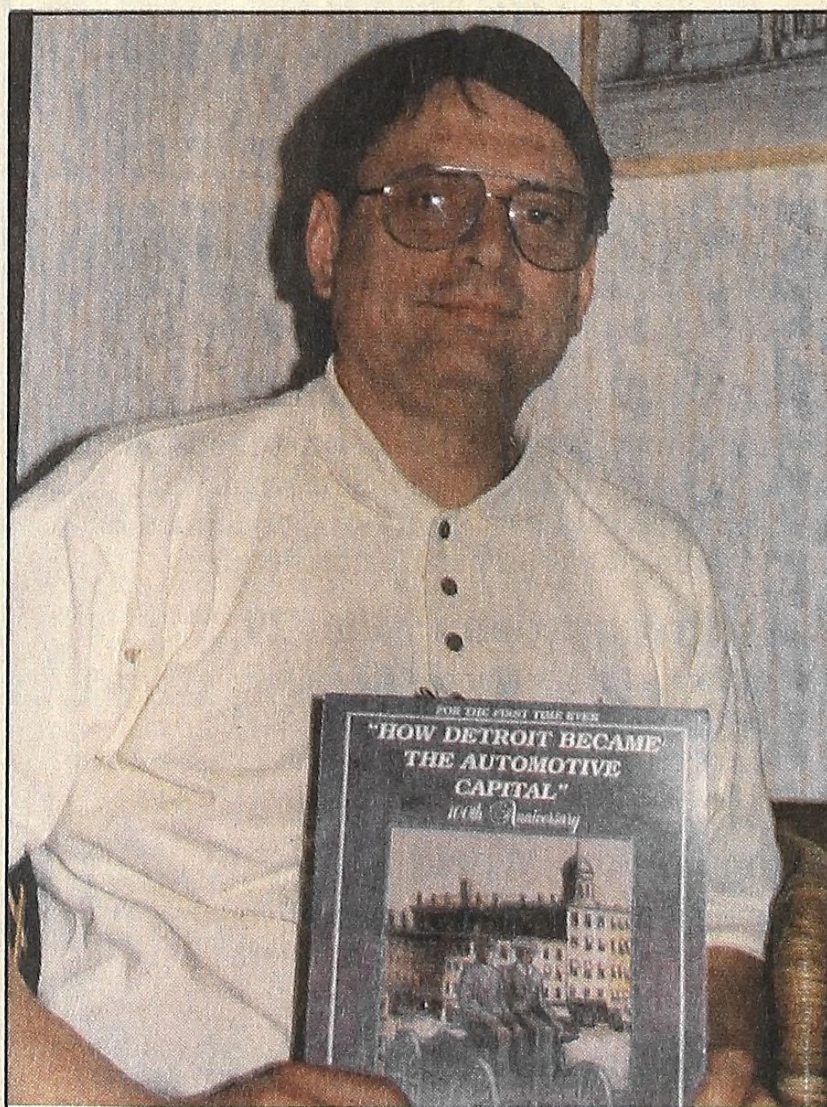

I thought I was familiar with the history of the automotive industry, but my lack of knowledge was embarrassing as I read Szudarek's stories about the Rex (1913-14), the two-passenger Benham Six, the Miller (1911-14) and the pricey, fully equipped Century at $3,250 made by the Century Electric Motor Car Company (1912-13).

Chapters about other obscure cars such as the Cricket cyclecar and the 1917 Harroun are included as well as ones about well known names in the automotive industry such as Chevrolet, Lincoln, Ford, Buick, Cadillac and Pontiac.

Interwoven in the chapters are the stories of the automotive pioneers -- all in bold type so their names are easy to trace -- Henry Ford, of course, Ransom Eli Olds, James Ward Packard, Louis Chevrolet, David Dunbar Buick and John and Horace Dodge.

Western Wayne County residents will appreciate a bit of history about the Detroit Air Cooled Car Company which built vehicles in a Wayne factory in 1922-23, and the Wayne Automobile Company (1904-1908), which was named after General Anthony Wayne, the decorated Revolutionary War hero.

One of the author's favorite stories in his book is about the young daughter of Joseph P. LaVigne, owner of LaVigne Manufacturing Company, who

Robert Szudarek's book tells the inside story of the birth of the auto industry in Detroit. MCN photo by Joan Dyer-Zinner Forrest Gump has nothing on Meredith Maran. She has life experience to spare.

From peace marches in the '50s and '60s, to marriage and children, to divorce and from the 1989 California earthquake to a breast cancer scare, Maran has lived through all of it, and isn't afraid to share it.

In her book, What it's Like to Live Now, Maran gives readers a reality check with each turn of the page.

"By the time the San Francisco skyline comes into view, the drug has kicked in. So had the high anxiety. Ending a marriage is one thing. People do that every day. Becoming a lesbian is another. People only do that every day on Donahue."

The book follows a curvy time line, traveling along a normal path before veering back into Maran's past to explain where her line of thinking came from. Somehow she manages to do this without making the pages seem cluttered.

Maran writes passionately about everything she has lived through. You can feel her every emotion, such as pain, anxiety, fear, happiness, and hope, to name a few. Her life is an open book.

The 352-page Bantam Books Bestseller is now available in paperback for $11.95 at area bookstores.

Mission accomplished

Tamika 'The Terrific' Craig leads Robichaud to first state track title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Before the 1996 high school track and field season got under way, Robichaud coach Francis McCauley announced that his team had set two goals for itself this year - to win the last Suburban Athletic Conference title and also to claim the state championship.

Mission accomplished!

With junior Tamika Craig dominating the sprints and also helping the Bulldogs win the 1,600-meter relay, Robichaud fulfilled its second goal on Saturday as Robichaud claimed its first-ever girls' state track & field championships.

The Dearborn Heights runners garnered 58 points, 30-points more than second-place finishing Flint Powers Catholic (28). River Rouge, a team also from the Suburban Athletic Conference, was third (27), while Jackson County Western (26.5) was fourth, followed by Grandville Calvin Christian (23).

I don't have to tell anyone that this is the greatest thrill a high school coach can experience - it is the epitome of it all.
- Francis McCauley
Robichaud coach

"Our kids remained goal-orientated and focused on what they had to do to get the job done," said McCauley, who completed his 25th season as head coach. "I don't have to tell anyone that this is the greatest thrill a high school coach can experience - it is the epitome of it all.

"And those kids deserve all the credit in the world," the Robichaud coach added.

Only one other athlete in the area has come away from state with four golds. Craig duplicated the phenomenal feat accomplished in 1990 by Tyrone Wheatley, a Robichaud alumnus, who won golds in the long jump, 100-meter and 200-meter dashes also with the 110-meter hurdles.

Craig moved into the elite class by dominating the sprints. She becomes the first woman athlete to accomplish the four-gold medal victory at Robichaud and the area. She launched her historic journey with triple victories in the sprints, winning the 100-meter dash in 12.6, crossing the finish line first for the 200-meters (25.6) and the 400-meters (56.1).

Joined by the McGrew sisters - Andrea and Juanita - along with Stephanie Gray, Craig also was a member of the first-place, gold-winning 1600-meter relay team that set a new school record in taking the gold in 3:57.

Robichaud also cashed in

Glenn captures Class A district baseball title

Nicollette was the lone medalist in the girls' division from the area in Class A. In the photo at the right, Belleville's senior super star Ian Gold made it a three-medal day at the state finals, finishing fourth in both the 400 and 200-meter dashes, then mustering enough strength to help the Tiger 800-meter relay finish third. Gold had competed in a total of 12 preliminary races before reaching the finals. Belleville finished 12th overall at state, the best of any area team. State finals

Gold leads the rush on medals

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Belleville's Ian Gold led the rush for medals at the annual state track and field championships staged throughout Michigan over the weekend.

Gold, an outstanding athlete who is headed for the University of Michigan this fall, captured two fourth-place medals in the sprints and also helped the Belleville 800-meter relay team pick up the bronze at the Class A state finals conducted in Rockford, near Grand Rapids.

Gold ran a 49.3 to finish fourth in the 400-meter dash, losing the bronze by an eyelash to Lansing Sexton's Coya Bouyer who was clocked in 49.02. Pontiac Northern's outstanding sprinter Godfrey Herring led the pack to the wire, taking the gold with a 47.67 performance. Port Huron Northern's Ken Nelson was runner-up in 48.55.

Gold duplicated his fourth-place efforts for the 200-meter dash. He was clocked in 22.76. Detroit Cass Tech's Dave Kea earned the gold with a 22:57 run. Kea led Herbert Gibson of Detroit Northern (22.59) and Josh Culver of Jackson (22:70) across the finish line.

With Gold leading off the Tigers' 800-meter relay, Belleville's foursome, which also included Alfonso Garner, Machia Coats and Nate Lewis earned All-State recognition as they finished third in the event with a 1:29.1.

Pontiac Central's quartet of Jonathan Hall, Jalilu Mayo, Gerald Rasool and Roland Eaton finished first in 1:29.01 for the gold, while Pontiac Northern was second for the silver (1:29.01).

Belleville coach George Duvore said that he was proud at the way his runners performed, but felt that "one bad handoff in the 800 may have costs us the silver."

A hamstring injury that denied Belleville senior Kevin Robinson an opportunity to compete a year ago also dashed his hopes this year as the senior hurdler was sidelined in the preliminaries of the 110-meter hurdles after suffering a pulled hamstring.

With their third-place finish in the relay and Gold's pair of fourth-place finishes in the sprints, the Tigers amassed 16 points, which

Refusing to buckle under pressure, Westland John Glenn slugged its way to two wild victories and a Class A district baseball championship on Saturday at Belleville High.

Down 7-2 after 4 1/3 innings, coach Todd Duffield's Rockets rallied for nine runs in their fifth to win a 11-7 victory over the host, Belleville, to claim the district title.

The victory over the Tigers came in the wake of an incredible first-round triumph over Romulus. Glenn survived a 14-13 slugfest en route to the championship round. Romulus had ousted Wayne, 8-3, in a pre-district game to qualify for the district playoffs.

"I was very happy the kids didn't fold. And they could have easily done that," said Duffield, who is rounding out his first season as Glenn's head coach. "We came back in both games and won it."

The victory puts the Rockets into the regional playoffs at Brighton where they will meet a tournament-experienced Adrian in the first-round scheduled for 10 a.m.

In the other bracket, Livonia Stevenson, which knocked off Livonia Franklin, will play Trenton in the 12:30 p.m. game.

The two winners will square off for the regional title at 3 p.m., with the winner moving on to the state quarterfinals.

Duffield says that Adrian has an excellent ball club.

"One thing for sure, we can't afford to make the mistakes that we made against Belleville and Romulus and hope for miracles. We definitely can't afford to fall behind."

Against Belleville, Glenn, aided by six Tiger-issued walks, pried loose the victory with a nine-run, bottom of the fifth inning that gave reliever Dan Calka a 11-7 lead to protect the rest of the way.

Calka, who got credit for the victory in the first game (over Romulus), pitched two scoreless innings against the Tigers.

In that fifth and decisive frame, the Rockets exploded after one out. Trevor Davey got to starter and loser Rodney Komaromi for a single, then Sean Heard placed a Komaromi pitch over the right field fence for a two-run homer. Tim Reeves flied out for the second out and Scott Fink worked the Tiger pitcher for a walk. Steve Paling then laced a triple, driving in the 7th-inning rally

Stevenson stuns Salem, 5-4

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Plymouth-Salem, a defending Class A district baseball champ, wasted two over-the-fence home runs by Ryan Rumberger and dropped a heartbreaking 5-4 decision Saturday to Livonia Stevenson in the first round of the Class A district playoffs.

Stevenson rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to oust Salem starter Ryan Andrzejewski from the mound. Andrzejewski was charged with the season-ending loss.

Salem qualified for the playoffs with a lopsided victory over Western Lakes Conference opponent, Livonia Churchill, 10-2, in the pre-district tournament. Stevenson went on to win the district championship thanks to a 15-5 victory over city rival, Livonia Franklin.

It's been a long and trying season for Salem's sophomore coach, Dale Rumberger, who took over the Rocks a year ago and guided them to the state quarterfinals.

Salem had pushed the Spartans up against the ropes but Stevenson refused to quit, and they bounced back. Stevenson came back with a two-hit, four-run last inning rally that kept their hopes alive.

Andrzejewski silenced Stevenson's bats for five complete innings and the defending champ held a 2-0 lead over the Spartans when they managed to break the hold and score their first run in the sixth. In the bottom of the sixth, the Rocks had appeared to have the victory in their column when they scored two more runs as Rumberger blasted his second HR of the game off of winner Jake Allison.

Rumberger drilled the ball to the 375-foot marker to lift the Rocks to a 3-1 lead. Then, Andrzejewski kept the rally going with a single. The Salem hurler was removed for pinch-runner Adam Seiter, who advanced to second via Kirk Craggs' sacrifice.

Joe Robinson's grounder to the shortstop,

Romulus' 1,600-meter relay team proved it is one of the best in the state as the Eagles' foursome of Steve Smith, Jason Davis, Larry Jackson and Ambrose Green finished with a fourth-place medal, and all-state accolades, after completing the event in 3:21.1, a new school record. Above, Davis completes the second leg, handing the baton to his teammate, Jackson. Green also returned with a fourth-place medal in the 100-meter dash (10.8). Coach Norb Glover also received an outstanding performance from freshman sprinter Freddie Russell who ran a 10.9 in the state semifinals. MCN photo by Carolyn Shough.

Westland's Samantha Crews (seated first row, from right) was in the lineup of the Michigan Chargers' basketball team that won the regional title in the 13-year-old age bracket and finished second in the state of Michigan. There were some 150 AAU teams represented at regionals. Crews' teammates included: Angie Herbst (seated first row, from left), Erin Quinn and Kristen McGlennan; second row are Jessica Gilbert, Tene Miller, and Katie King; third row are coach Gar Frantz, Karen Edwards, Joelle Frantz, Erin Carson, Kelly Bendernagel, Sarah Bajarek, Beth Rice, and coach Larry Cupp. Not available at the time of the photo is team member Christie Schumacher. which was conveniently booted for the Rocks, allowed Salem to score what proved to be their final run of the 1996 campaign.

Allison's single drove in the first run of the inning after Andrzejewski issued a walk and a leadoff single, which convinced Rumberger that a change was needed. He brought on Keith Boughner who gave up a double that scored in the tying and the winning runs.

In the fourth inning, Ryan Rumberger snapped a scoreless game with a roundtripper that carried 365-yards. The Rocks made it a 2-0 game in the fifth as Joe Robinson singled home Ras, who had singled to get aboard.

Kevin Niemiec drilled three hits and Andrzejewski chipped in with two in the 10-2 victory over Churchill.

Salem finished the 1996 campaign with an overall 10-8 record.

were good for a 12th-place in the final standings of the state meet.

Detroit Cass Tech surfaced as the state champ, beating its closest rival, Pontiac Northern by 18 points for the coveted title. Cass Tech piled up 62 points while Northern had 44. Lansing Sexton finished third with 36 points and there was a two-way tie for fourth between Pontiac Central and Port Huron Northern, each with 31.

John Glenn steals District Softball Championship

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn's softball team surprised everyone, including themselves, as they took the Michigan High School Athletic Association Class A District Championship, which took place at Belleville High School.

In the first game, played May 28, Romulus defeated Wayne Memorial, 5-1. "They played pretty good," said Wayne Memorial coach Robert Nutt. "It was one of our better games for the year." He added that the difference between the two teams was pitching. "We could play with them," Nutt said. "They just had a little better pitching than we did."

On June 1, John Glenn, Romulus, Belleville, and Taylor Center faced off for the title.

Belleville went head to head with Taylor Center, a team they had beaten twice in the regular season. In the districts, they weren't so fortunate, as they were defeated 6-2. A week before the district began, Tiger coach Peggy Curtis said she felt her team could win this district, but with a one game knock-out, nothing was for sure. "This was a team we should have beaten," she said after her team's disappointing loss. "We didn't hit well. We didn't play the best game as we should have and we lost in a district we could have won. We Robichaud's 800-meter relay team made up of Tanisha Brown, Lorri Alverson, Juanita McGrew and Stephanie Gray finished sixth in 1:47.3.

In the meantime, Inkster made its mark at the Class C state finals staged in Comstock, Michigan.

The Vikings came up ninth-best with the 400-meter relay team as Dante Williams, Jonathan Brewer, Makimba Mims and Sharelle Owens toured the course in 44.7.

Romulus ends Wayne season in predistrict

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Before Westland John Glenn sent Romulus packing for the season, coach Don Foley and his Eagles helped Wayne Memorial bring down the curtains to the baseball season.

Romulus' Sean Lee led a 13-hit assault on Wayne hurler Jeff Temple as he homered and tripled in the 8-3 victory in a predistrict game that opened the door to Romulus' district play-off game with Glenn.

Sean Dick picked up his seventh win in eight starts as he tossed an eight-hitter, struck out five and walked two.

Romulus took a 1-0 lead in the third as Lee tripled then scored the first run of the game when Chris Drouillard doubled off of Temple.

The Eagles added three more runs in the fourth when Ryan Evans singled and eventually got to third on a pass ball and ground out. Evans scored when Nick Locklear's grounder was mis-played by the first baseman. And that brought Lee to the plate who blasted a two-run homer that sailed 390-feet over the right field fence.

In the fifth, Romulus added a pair of un-earned runs, and Evans' single with one-away in the seventh opened the door to the Eagles' final two runs as Matt Bennett walked, and Mike Hatfield was safe on a fielder's choice. Locklear singled home Evans and Lee also singled in Hatfield.

Lee had a phenomenal two-game playoff series. The Romulus senior strung together eight hits in nine at-bats, including a triple and a couple of homers and five runs batted in.

Romulus ended the season with a 15-11 record which included a second-place finish in the Mega Conference White Division.

Foley was pleased with his team's efforts although he admitted that, at times, "it was like a roller-coaster."

third run and back-to-back walks to Dale Hayes and Chet Rees loaded the bases.

When Komaromi walked Gordie Smith, forcing in the fourth run, the Tiger staff decided on a pitching change. It didn't reverse the tide as Scott Stewart, pinch-hitting for Robertson, also walked, Davey, up for the second time in the inning, also walked and Sean Heard was struck by a wild pitch.

Reeves then drilled a double into left center, scoring two more runs and Fink ended the wild inning when he grounded out.

Reeves finished with a single and double and two RBIs and Palings had a single and triple.

Levin hails $18 million
Michigan COPS grant

Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) awards will provide an $18,119,372 boost to Michigan local law enforcement agencies, allowing them to hire 250 new officers.

"I'm gratified our efforts to protect this vital program paid off," Sen. Carl Levin said. "When the COPS program appeared threatened by Republican budget cutters during the last few months, communities across the country spoke out on its behalf. Decreasing crime rates can be attributed in part to community policing programs like these."

The COPS program, part of the 1994 Crime Bill, established a $30 billion dollar trust fund to put 100,000 new police officers on America's streets. As of May 1996, it has used $2.2 billion to hire 43,000 officers nationwide. Since its start, the COPS program has brought $71,990,921 and 1,125 new officers to communities across Michigan.

During the recently concluded standoff over the 1996 fiscal year budget, congressional Democrats were successful in blocking GOP attempts to eliminate the program. COPS was among budget priorities disagreements that led Republicans to force the government to shut down twice. In the end, Democrats obtained full funding for the program.

In the last 25 years, federal

Awards will provide an $18,119,372 boost to Michigan local law enforcement.

spending on lawyers increased by 200 percent and spending on prisons increased by 156 percent, while spending on police officers increased only 12 percent. "We need additional police on our streets," Levin added. "These community-oriented policing efforts have really helped reduce crime in the eyes of most of the police officers and chiefs around the state." Levin has praised the COPS program for reversing this trend and putting more police officers on the street. Local law enforcement agencies have lauded the programs streamlined application process.

According to FBI data, violent crime incidence has decreased in Michigan over the last year. For example, in 1995, the number of serious crimes such as robbery, rape and aggravated assault dropped 6 percent in Flint, 4.5 percent in Lansing, and 4 percent in Warren. Nationally, the FBI reports that violent crimes rates dropped 4 percent from 1994 levels. Officials attribute this trend, in part, to the new focus on community policing.

League appoints president

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

News came that Carole Watson was appointed president of the Bay Area Urban League in San Francisco February, 1996. She is the daughter of Frances Webb, a former teacher in the Inkster Public Schools.

Carole graduated from Inkster High School, finished college and taught in junior high school. "She is the first woman in the history of the local affiliate to be selected for the job," sated James B. Lockhart, board chairman.

The League is an interracial, nonprofit community service organization that helps races in all sectors of society in education, employment and other areas.

Watson has a long history of service and has held management positions with the Urban League, served as League volunteer and worked for the United Way.

IMPORTANT NEWS ABOUT BEER FROM MILLER BREWING COMPANY

BREWS & VIEWS

New Miller Beer joins America's popular beer family

For more than 140 years, Miller Brewing Company has created a variety of beers to satisfy beer drinkers' tastes. Each beer – Miller Lite, Lite Ice, Miller Genuine Draft, Miller Genuine Draft Light, High Life, and now Miller Beer – is brewed with the highest-quality ingredients and brewing traditions that have been handed down for generations.

Miller Brewing adds new Miller Beer to its family: Lite Ice, Miller Lite, Miller Beer, Miller Genuine Draft, MGD Light, High Life.

Lite is a great-tasting, low-calorie premium beer; Miller Genuine Draft is a premium beer brewed using a patented cold-filtered process; and High Life is a traditional American full-flavored lager.

Beer drinkers call for Miller Beer – the one with the red label

As new Miller Beer becomes available in bars and restaurants across the country, the brand is quickly becoming known as "Miller with the red label."

Paul Roller, president of Miller Brands, a Miller wholesaler in Milwaukee, Wis., says that referring to the brand's distinctive red packaging graphics is an easy way for beer drinkers to order the beer.

"This helps cut through the clutter in many busy bars," says Roller.

Big flavor, big advertising

Miller Brewing's newest brand with big flavor is supported by a substantial advertising line-up. "Miller Beer is for beer drinkers who associate great possibilities in beer taste with great possibilities about themselves," said a company spokesperson. "Our advertising reflects this."

The advertising for the brand uses the tagline "Reach for what's out there" and includes national television, radio, print and billboards and introduces new Miller Beer and its unique product profile. The highly visible television campaign includes major sports programs such as the NBA Finals and prime time programs.

Miller introduces brand new beer bearing family name

Brewmaster: "Miller Beer makes thirst worthwhile"

By Mike Gilman

When you craft a beer that stands out from the crowd, picking a name is easy – you name it after yourself. That's what Miller Brewing Company has done with its new creation – Miller Beer.

"We take a lot of pride in creating a beer so good, we're just calling it who we are," says Miller Brewmaster David Ryder.

Available nationwide this spring, Miller Beer is a premium, mainstream beer with a full, rich flavor. The secret is a special brewing process using the best part of the hops — what Miller calls the "heart of the hops."

"Hops are what give beers their individual, distinct taste," says Ryder. "Using the heart of the hop results in a beer that is big in flavor, short on bitterness and a taste that goes down easy."

Tastes and preferences in beers are evolving, adds Ryder, who points out that the popularity of light beers indicates some people want beers that are easy to drink and not bitter or filling. At the same time, other people want fuller-flavored beers – witness the interest in micro-brews and specialty beers.

"The special brewing method used in new Miller Beer lets us strike a perfect balance between taste and drinkability that meets the changing tastes of today's beer drinkers," says Ryder.

Miller Beer's distinct red label makes big impact with beer drinkers.

Miller Beer is brewed to satisfy that wide array of tastes and preferences.

"Miller Beer is truly a new, distinctive beer that stands out from the crowd," says Ryder. "One taste and you'll know the difference."

New Miller Beer stands out on the shelf, too. A striking red, blue and white logo in a traditional brown bottle makes it easy to identify.

Experts agree: New Miller Beer dethrones the competition

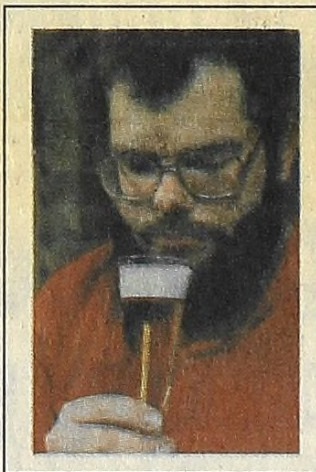

By Peter Marino

Throughout time, the ultimate test for an up-and-comer has been to challenge the champion. In the beer industry, where taste is king, the most direct challenge is a taste test.

In an independent, blind taste test conducted by a major metropolitan daily newspaper with three well-known beer experts, new Miller Beer soundly defeated the top-selling beer in the American premium mainstream beer category, which is the largest segment in the beer industry and includes a variety of full-calorie products.

Following the conventional rules for a taste test, the three experts, all of whom have judged numerous professional beer competitions in the past, scrutinized their beers for nearly half an hour and then all three — one a native of England, one German-born and one a Milwaukee native, scored new Miller Beer the taste champion.

With comments such as "...good malt balance," "...fuller flavor, nice finish," "...nice follow-through with hop flavors," "...it's a better beer," the experts were unanimous in their

The heart of the matter
Quality hops mean big flavor, smooth taste

By Jori Mendel

In a proprietary brewing method, Miller Brewing Company is using "the heart of the hops" to brew a beer with full flavor but very little bitterness — new Miller Beer.

With 140 years of brewing under its belt, Miller spent more than two years crafting this new beer, brewed with only the best part of select hops.

"Hops are the spice of beer adding their own special taste, aroma, texture but also bitterness," explains David Ryder, brewmaster for Miller.

"When brewing new Miller Beer, we use only the heart of the hop to produce a rich flavor that diminishes the bitter characteristics typically associated with full-flavored beers," says Ryder. "This gives Miller Beer its smooth taste and rich texture."

The new brewing process also gives Miller Beer richer flavor by allowing the use of four times more hops than are typically used in premium, mainstream, full-calorie beers.

"More hops means more flavor, richer texture, but in the case of new Miller Beer, less bitterness," says Ryder.

Quality hops are essential to brewing quality beer. More than 100 varieties of hops are cultivated nationwide. Miller Beer is brewed with highest quality of Galena hops from the Pacific Northwest.

"More hops means more flavor, more texture, but in the case of new Miller Beer, less bitterness."

YOU BE THE EXPERT

Gather some friends or "tasters," two pilsner-style glasses per taster, Miller Beer and the challenging beer of your choice in the American-style premium lager category. Use the score card below. Each beer should be scored on color, aroma, flavor, smoothness / easy to drink and less bitter aftertaste.

Chill both beers to approximately 38 degrees Fahrenheit. Ask a non-taster to pour both beers behind a shield to ensure an objective, "blind" tasting. Ask each participant to taste the beer and record their rating in each category, using 1 (poor) to 5 (great) for each characteristic. Repeat this process with the second beer, gather all score cards and compare. The beer with the higher score is your taste-test winner.
